

Childsafe Signs MOU with the Hospital

On the 15th April 2015 the Red Cross War Memorial Children's Hospital represented by Dr MA Mukosi (CEO) and Childsafe represented by Prof AB (Sebastian) van As signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU). The purpose of this MOU is to support the implementation of the programmes and services provided by Childsafe to the hospital patients, their families and the community at large. All these efforts are to help create a safer environment for children and to prevent childhood injuries.

Pumla Mtambeka acting as Director of Childsafe and Chantal Groenewald (Personal Assistant to the CEO of the hospital) witnessed the signing ceremony held in the offices of the CEO at Red Cross War Memorial Children's Hospital. This MOU sealed the healthy working relationship that has been in existence between the two parties since 1978.

Childsafe viewed this signing as an important milestone and is grateful to the hospital administration and the management team for this vote of confidence in the organization, in particular in the light of the extreme budgetary constraints within Provincial Government.

The UN Global Road Safety Week (GRSW) serves as important platform for concerted advocacy to address the problem of road trauma which claims over 1.3 million lives across the world annually. Global, regional and national events involve governments, civil society, foundations, academia and the private sector to save lives by improving safety on the roads. This year, the GRSW was held from 4^{th} – 10th May 2015 under the theme 'Children and road safety'. The Week drew attention to the urgent need to better protect children and generate action on the measures needed to do so. Partners worldwide were encouraged to establish a national or local organizing committee and develop a plan of activities, including thorough engagement with children. These global and national activities were organized within the framework of the global campaign #SaveKidsLives that was launched in November 2014 by the UN Road Safety Collaboration.

Childsafe South Africa in partnership with various stakeholders (Road Accident Fund, Global Road Safety Partnership South Africa, Road Traffic Management Cooperation and Department of Transport (Western Cape Government) organised various activities as part our contribution during the week. Activities included signing #SaveKidsLives declaration, events at selected primary schools and crèches as well as interacting with motorists visiting the Red Cross War Memorial Children's Hospital. The interaction with motorists was aimed at increasing awareness on the need to 'buckle up children' in cars.

Furthermore, the inception of GRSW marked the inauguration of the South Africa Walk This Way Project Launch. It was held at Masonwabe Primary School, Delft-South (Cape Town). This project is being funded by FedEx. The Walk This Way project aims to reduce child pedestrian injuries and deaths in South Africa. This initiative also focuses on assessing child pedestrian safety in selected South African school zone areas, conducting interventions, evaluating the results and sharing what is learnt with the rest of the world. At the event, attendees signed the United Nations' Child Declaration urging policymakers to take strong action, including the reduction of motor vehicle speeds.

Project Updates

Safe Travel to School Programme

The pilot phase of the STTS Programme is nearing its end. The Programme has recruited 78 school transport drivers driving kids in three areas: central Cape Town, Athlone and the Northern Suburbs. The drivers underwent a sustained programme of interventions: devices were installed in their vehicles to monitor their driving. A further incentive was a chance for the five safest drivers to be awarded quarterly cash prizes. Other interventions included defensive driving and first aid training and vehicle roadworthy support.

This phase of the Programme comes to an end later this month. On 30 July the two safest drivers will receive prizes at an awards event in Cape Town; one being a brand new vehicle - with another prize awarded to the most improved driver. The national Minister of Transport, Dipuo Peters, is expected to attend. The function also marks the start of the next phase: expanding the Programme further in Cape Town, and implementing in in the City of Johannesburg. Rollout in Kwazulu Natal is planned for a later stage.

The Violence, Injury and Peace unit of the MRC has been monitoring the Programme thus far, and will present the results of their research at the awards event.

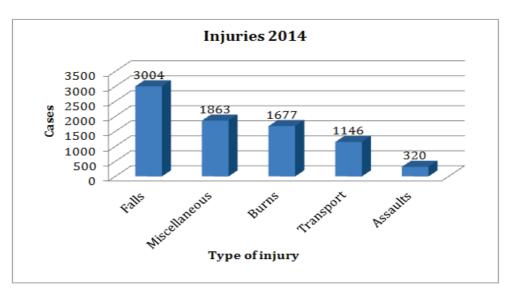

Safe Schools Project

Childsafe launched new traffic lights in Japhta Masemola Road (old Lansdowne Road) in Khayelitsha as part of traffic calming improvement to protect children on route to and from the Sivile Primary School. The event formed part of the Safe Schools Project to reduce child pedestrian injuries and deaths on roads near schools due to the large concentration of children exposed to oncoming vehicles.

Learners from Imbasa Primary school also received new reflective school tracksuit tops to increase visibility on their daily travelling. This pilot project developed an innovative model combining education for the school learners, training for teachers and advocacy action to catalyse the introduction of safe road infrastructure.

Childhood Injuries treated at Red Cross Trauma Unit in 2014

Unfortunately, the number of patients with burns has been growing gradually over the last years with this last year a total of 1677 patients presenting with any type of burns. Burns are known to be a significant burden of paediatric injuries, particularly in low and middle-income countries, were more than 90% of burn-related paediatric deaths occur.

Between 1995 and 2009, 9438 children with burn-related injuries presented to Red Cross War Memorial Children's Hospital, of which nearly three-quarters resulted from scalds (73%; n = 7024). The mean age of the injured children was 3.1 ± 2.9 years and 58% were male. Eleven deaths occurred in the hospital's casualty department. 39% of injuries were minor, 56% were moderate, and 5% were severe. During that period, moderate burn injuries increased by 3%; minor injuries decreased by 10%. Half of all children were admitted to the hospital. Hospital admissions increased by 3% during the study period.

Paediatric burn injuries are a significant contributor to the burden of child diseases in developing country hospitals. Our paediatric surveillance system is an important instrument to study epidemiologic changes in burn injuries. Our findings suggest the need for more targeted interventions to address the prevention of specific burn-related injuries.
